Seminar Synopsis:

With our economy hinting at another recession, slow recovery in the US, the plunge in oil prices, the Greek bailout, disappointment about China's inability to maintain its growth rate, and mixed signals from Ontario's manufacturing sector, revenue protection and trade debt recovery take the front seat. When other avenues of recovery have been exhausted can we use the Ontario court system to our advantage?

Come and join us and find out how.

PANEL OF SPEAKERS:

1. Ian Wick is the Managing Partner at Keyser, Mason Ball, LLP and is engaged in a broad corporate/commercial practice where he regularly advises companies ranging from family owned businesses to large multinational corporations, including publicly traded companies.
2. Amandeep Sidhu is an Associate in Keyser Mason Ball's Commercial Litigation, Debt Recovery and Family Law practice groups, with extensive experience in contractual disputes and debt collection, frequently appearing in the Ontario Superior Court of Justice and Appeal Courts on behalf of his clients.
3. Anita Pompilio is a licensed paralegal with the Law Society of Upper Canada and is a member of Keyser Mason Ball's Commercial Litigation practice, where she focuses primarily on Small Claims Court matters ranging from business disputes, breach of contract and collection matters.
4. Jonathan Spiegel is the founding partner of Spiegel Nichols Fox LLP and leads its litigation and construction practices. Among other things, he has represented contractors, creditors, and financial institutions in enforcement, collection and insolvency matters.
5. Rose Avarino is a senior law clerk at Spiegel Nichols Fox LLP, assisting in the management of the firm's collection department and working closely with lawyers, law clerks and legal assistants. In her 18 years' experience as a law clerk, Rose has uncovered many hidden assets of a debtor and has used all available enforcement mechanisms in law in order to recover hundreds of thousands of dollars for various creditors.
